Uefa Women's Champions League - quarter finals

sport, 21.01.2026 [ENA]

Uefa Women's Champions League - Bayern Munich, FC Barcelona, Chelsea FC and Olympique Lyonnais are the four teams that qualify directly for the Uefa Women's Champions League semi-finals, which will be played between March 24-25 and April 1-2 (return matches).

After the last round of the league phase on December 17, the UWCL standings were finalized, with Chelsea qualifying directly for the final phase thanks to their 2-1 victory over Wolfsburg.

Bayern Munich, Barcelona, and OL also qualified directly after victories over Valerenga, Paris FC, and Atletico de Madrid, respectively.

Paris Saint Germain, which ended the championship phase without a single victory in six games, and AS Roma, despite its final victory over the already eliminated St. Polten, were surprisingly excluded from this Champions League. Valerenga, Benfica, and Twente were also eliminated.

The four finalists await the challengers who will emerge from the matches on 11–12 February and 18–19 February (first and second legs).

On 11 February, Leuven will face Arsenal and Paris FC will face Real Madrid (second leg on 18 February), with the winners going on to meet Chelsea and Barcelona respectively.

On 12 February, Wolfsburg will face Juventus and Atlético Madrid will face Manchester United (return leg on 19 February), with the winners going on to face Olympique Lyonnais and Bayern Munich respectively.
